

HIST 100: United States History to 1877

San Bernardino Valley College

Spring 2017

Research Project

Worth: 300 points

Overview

The research project will give you a chance to explore a topic in the course more in-depth. After you conduct research on your topic, you will put together a ten-minute presentation to deliver to the class at the end of the semester, using a program such as PowerPoint or Google Slides. I will be offering a workshop during my office hours demonstrating how to use these programs for anyone wanting to learn the basics of these programs.

I encourage you to select a topic within this period of American history that is either of interest to you or somehow relates to your major. This way, it will make the research process seem more relevant and engaging.

You will have to locate a minimum of one primary and one secondary source for the project, which will have to be submitted on a Works Cited page on the day of your presentation.

To ensure everyone stays on task with their project, there are required deadlines – with associated points – that count towards the final score for the project. The breakdown is as follows:

The topic for the project	15 points
Works Cited page	25 points
Mini report on your project	35 points
Presentation	Up to 225 points
TOTAL PROJECT	300 points

Please do not hesitate in seeking me out for guidance at any point and time for assistance on this project or any other in this course. I am always willing to offer any assistance or guidance.

Parts of the Project

Topic Selection

You will select a topic relevant to the course and submit it to me for approval and/or suggestions.

A partial list of suggested topics is provided on the next page. The topic MUST PERTAIN TO UNITED STATES HISTORY. Failure to do will affect your grade negatively.

Source Selection

Once you have selected your topic, you must locate a minimum of two sources – one primary and one secondary source – relevant to your topic. You must submit your sources on a Works Cited page to me for any recommendations.

A primary source is an original document from the era of the topic you are researching. Several examples include:

- Diaries
- Journals
- Letters
- Memorandums
- Photographs
- Newspaper clippings from the era
- Magazines from the era

A secondary source is a historical document which interprets the story of a historical actor or event. Examples include:

- Biographies
- Monographs (books on events or people)

Mini Report on Project

Towards the end of the course, you will be writing up a two paragraph (minimum four-sentence per paragraph) report on how far you've gotten with your project. You should be honest and candid in this report. If you have encountered "roadblocks" in your research – you can't find information, or the information you find constantly seems to contradict itself – say so. All these details are part of the learning experience.

One the due date of the mini report, you will be divided into small groups in class to share your reports and discuss the various findings you have made. You will likely find you have many common experiences with your classmates.

Research Project

The final part of the project involves you presenting your project to the class. I will present you with a basic rubric of what I will be looking for in your presentation. You will be expected to present a finalized list of resources you used on the day of your presentation.

Alternative Project

If you suffer from "presentation anxiety" – I understand completely as I used to fall into this category – I offer you an alternative choice: you may write a research paper on your topic.

It must be a minimum of five pages in length, include a cover page and include a works cited page. It should be double-spaced and in 12-point Times New Roman font. It should include citations in MLA format to indicate where you got all your information from.
