

Approved Observation Videos for Virtual Observations

The Annenberg website was created for those preparing to teach, and for in-service teacher education. The Annenberg Channel is produced by Annenberg Media with the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics. The Edutopia website was created by the George Lucas Educational Foundation (GLEF) to encourage innovation in schools. This is a wonderful website for teachers to use, and it is also free of charge. In the mix of the 15 approved videos you will find wonderful classroom examples narrated by master teachers.

For videos 1-13, the website will have you make an account and then it will redirect you back to the video you were trying to watch. Registration will not be required for video number 14 or 15.

When you have completed a video, close out the video page instead of clicking on the back button.

If you experience problems accessing the videos, try turning off your pop-up blocker.

You are required to fill out one observation form per virtual video.
