

Exercise 3.11.27

Explain what is wrong with the following statements. Use complete sentences.

- a. If there's a 60% chance of rain on Saturday and a 70% chance of rain on Sunday, then there's a 130% chance of rain over the weekend.
- b. The probability that a baseball player hits a home run is greater than the probability that he gets a successful hit.