

1. Give an example of an M:N relationship and how you would model that relationship in a relational database.
2. Given an example of a recursive relationship. Be specific and detailed.
3. What is the difference between a single-valued attributes and simple attributes? Give an example of each type.

4. Given:

Write the business rules reflected in this ERD. Remember, business rules are two-parted.