

1. Analyze the Maryland state of government regulation of product safety to determine whether the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) agencies are generally proactive or reactive. Provide 1 specific example of each agency to support your response.

2. Compare and contrast the regulatory alternatives in terms of the efficiency and efficacy these alternatives might provide to businesses and consumers. Next, determine which solution is the most viable, considering the likelihood of support from business and government interests. Explain your rationale.

- Please give me a brand new answer and do not follow Corsehero's previous answers. I want an answer with 0 pilgrims. Thank you